

In this issue are many stories of people cornered by the impossibility of their situations and taking desperate measures to try to do the right thing and find their way forward. Harrowing at times, but in the end, the human push to persevere and to extend a hand is breathtaking.

We wish all of you a healthy and heartening winter.

Warm regards,

Susan Lind